'Union NOW'--TREASON

Goodbye to the American Flag?

Shall We Hoist the Union Jack ?

By Lillian Scott Troy

PASADENA,—Clarence Streit, alleged author and founder of the UNION NOW movement, which is intended to bring the Republic of these United States back under the crown of Great Britain as one of the English-speaking "democracies", which is at present outside the Empire upon which the sun never sets—because the good Lord might not wish to trust that gigantic organ of loot and despoiliation alone in the dark—claims that his inspiration is but seventeen months of age, and was born of his own personal inspiration.

This movement is but another name for the old British-Carnegie plot, and has the same objective; but in order to conceal the putridity of the initial plot which was both crude and clumsy and got no further than enriching some weaklings and traitors to the United States, this one of Clarence Streit's has been wrapped up in waxed paper and fumigated with fine words—but there are so many holes in the paper that, like either a rose or a bit of garlic, the "scent clings to it still", and escapes into the clean American atmosphere. It's going to take more ability and brains than Mr. Streit and his poor minions and weaklings can muster in ten centuries to subdue that emanation of the corpse in the last stages of decomposition. 'Tis smelly.

In Pasadena, where the air is sweet and scented with the blessed perfume of flowers and orange blooms, there exists today a little office at 40 South Knoll Avenue where alleged "volunteers" to trap the unwary into this treason snare take turns in handing out literature, asking for signatures, & lauding this "great" movement to "save America". In that little office I saw two evidences of desecration—the American flag and the picture of General George Washington, strung on the walls, a mean attempt to camouflage the deadliners of the jaws of the anti-American trap—as cheese diverts the unwary mice and small-brained rodents, allays suspicion, and leaves the victim divested of all suspicion until the sharp and jagged clamps grasps and strangles his freedom for ever and ever.

As I approached this office in a quiet street not far from the heart of Pasadena's business center, I moved slowly and cautiously; I had been there once before and had expressed my sentiments—thus more self-control and diplomacy was the order of the day if I hoped to obtain one item of information which I sought. Further, I found it prudent in the interest of my search to be assured that the wild-eyed "lady" who had heard my frank opinion expressed with more or less force was not "on duty" at that time as one of the alleged "volunteers".

A younger woman was seated at the desk. She turned with the almost startled alertness of a rabbit when I entered. The eyes wore the same strained look as the absent "volunteer" of a previous day. Once as a very tiny child I had been told that to capture the lovely birds which visited my father's garden in San Rafael all that was necessary was to put a pinch of salt on their tails. That long-forgotten advice drove into my mind as I stepped toward the desk. It had been my bitter experience to have lived in England for over ten years, being there before and all during the last great war; I knew of the plot to "reconquer the United States as an integral part of the British Empire" since early in 1909, a year before the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace had been founded and a set plan put into operation through which the optimists among the British and their treacherous American hirelings hoped to bring about this amazing project by 1915—if all went according to schedule. I saw this thing fail time and again, but the tragedy of it, I saw that it was steadily making progress in regard to some of its finalities.

Along came Mr. Streit with his 'entirely new' idea—shoddy, turned and remodled, but the same old wood-kitty scent being in evidence.

Knowing the horror prepared for the United States under this plan and plot I went to the office of UNION NOW—to look for a leak. I found it!

Annex U. S. A. to Britain

Talking the lingo of the traitors I took great care not to say one word which would indicate that I was in any way connected with the movement or in sympathy with its object—but so strained and nervous was the young "volunteer" that she heard only my words—and these were to the effect that I knew this person and that person very well who had been connected with this movement in England years ago—and I just rattled on, not giving the woman an op-

WENDELL WILLKIE is determined to reorganize the G. O. P. and eliminate the "Isolationist" Americans. Just as Roosevelt captured the Democratic party and made it New Deal, pro-British, anti-American and subversively Jewish; Willkie proposes to "reorient" the G. O. P.'s foreign and domestic policy. No more "minding our own business", from now on we must mind the British and the Jews.

Fifth Columnists Hoist Union Jack

War Mongers Are Getting Bold

Assembled in a room where the British Union Jack was the center piece behind the speaker's rostrum, Britain's bugles sounded a call to arms in the voice of E. Guy Talbot, supervisor of Pacific coast activities of the Committee to Defend America by aiding the allies, at the local chapter's first public meeting in San Diego club last week.

"Shall we let England die?" he asked, and answered with an emphatic "no!"

But to keep England and its principles of democracy alive America must not stop with moral approval, he said, warning that "military support is essential if democracy is to be preserved."

Old, Traiterous Foggies Want To Sacrifice America's Young Men

Indicating that the "measures short of war" phase may be over, he cited a recent committee announcement which said "we cannot guarantee that the United States will avoid active military involvement," but quickly added that "the only chance to avoid war is to provide more support for Britain."

The speaker made a moving appeal for support to the British as necessary to preserve America's way of life.

He said his committee "has closer connections with the United States government than any unofficial organization ever had in the country's history," and added that it is "seeking to direct public opinion in accord with the wishes of the government."

He urged dispatch of letters to congressmen, noting that "it sometimes seems a waste of time to send them to senators, but your congressman may be more amenable to reason."

When one thinks of the Rockefeller funds, the Cancer Research funds, & the rest of the money that has gone down the vivisectors' sinks during the past quarter century, and compare its worse than negative results with the amazing series of discoveries made during that period by physicists doing sheer brain work within the strictest limits of honor, it is difficult to resist the conclusion (not that any normal person wants to resist it) that only imbeciles can be induced to practice vivisection and glory in it.—George Bernard Shaw.

Grocers Fight Labor Racketeers

Independent Grocers are winning their battle against the closed shop in San Diego. When they were threatened with loss of deliveries unless they knuckled down to the demands of the AFL Teamsters Union to quit patronizing Klauber-Wangenheim, Cramer's Bakery and Mountain Meadow products, they replied with a mass meeting held at he San Diego Hotel, where they decided on a policy of solidarity against the racketeers. Instead of losing business Klauber-Wangenheim, Cramer's and Mountain Meadow are increasing their sales outlet since the independent grocers have started cutting down on products which are controlled by AFL closed shop contracts and are increasing their patronage of open shop producers. All the picketing of grocers notwithstanding, the public is not yielding to labor dictatorship and wherever a picket line appears public patronage rallies to prove its defiance by crossing the lines. In fact it's good advertising for a shop to be picketted.

CIO UNFAIR TO PICKETS

At the Century Upholstering Co., 2603 Univsity Ave., the CIO is taking advantage of the poor fellows, who are out of a job, to picket the shop which pays good wages to workers, while the CIO pays the pickets only $8 a week. For that measly amount the poor pickets must walk up and down and carry that huge sign on their shoulders for a full half day, each week day. And besides the full time pickets who work regular hours at $8 a week, the CIO forces the members of the Upsolsterers Union to picket two hours a day, before they go to work in the morning and after they return from work at night. This makes the work day to last from 7 am till 6 pm. And these fellows are plain slaves, they get not one cent for the overtime they must put in daily to picket the Century Upholstering Co.

It's an outrage! It's a racket! It's plain slavery!

Picketing at San Diego Hotel

(From Radio Talk, Wednesday 8:15 pm KGB)

Last Wednesday after my broadcast I asked David, my older son, how it went over. He said: "It was very sly, but you put your points over very nicely. I liked it." And I asked again: "But did I not talk too much religion?" and David said: "As long as you don't get too theoretical but use it to emphasize practical points, I think your religious approach is very good".

To carry out David's advice, I shall tell you what happened last Monday noon in front of the San Diego Hotel. You know they are picketing that Hotel, its the AFL culinary unions as well as the engineers and teamsters. And as I told you in previous broadcasts, whenever a racket is being played upon working people under the guise of helping them, I go out and picket the pickets, exposing the racket. The truth is the best remedy for anything in life. I have made it my business to find out how it produces results and I am keeping it up.

Pickets Get Starvation Pay

So last Monday morning I made myself two card board signs which I tacked to a stick and displayed them on Broadway, during the noon hour, while picketing the pickets again. This is what my sign said: Poor Pickets, $1 a day for 3 hours work. They can't live on it. No board, no tips, why?— And on the other side my sign read: Pickets $1 a day. AFL officials $3,000 to $20,000 salary. A hell of a racket.

You should have seen those pickets, how their eyes popped when they read my sign. They put their heads together and discussed the matter. Then one sidled up to me saying: "They used to pay us $1.50 a day, now they cut us down to $1 and believe me, its hard work". Of course its hard work. I walked only one hour carrying my sign which is small and not heavy, while their's is big, clumsy and heavy—and my arms, shoulders and legs ached from the stiffness of holding the muscles in one position all that time. They work 3 hours a day for one measly dollar. Then another picket said: "Just imagine, I have five kids to feed on that dollar, that's all they give me". And a third one spoke up: "I want to buy a BROOM from you" and turning to his companions he announced in a loud voice: "The Broom is the best paper in San Diego, this is Mr. de Aryan here". And two other pickets came forward and each one bought a copy of The BROOM for a nickel.

THE BREAD WAR IN SAN DIEGO

John Devany Reveals Background

I called at the Devany Bakery, 3207 El Cajon Blvd., to find out how the price war inaugurated by the New York controlled Continental Baking Co., is affecting small, independent bakers. "I had to cut the price of bread to meet Wonderbread at 10c for the pound-and-a-half loaf," said John Devany. "I am losing monthly between $70 and $80. At first I refused to lower my price, but I started to lose customers because of the competition. Now to hold my trade I am losing money. I used to work for Continental Bakery while Maxey was its manager here. They held many meetings with the other bakeries and demanded that Snowflake and Winter either raise their price of bread or lower the quality. But Swanson and Winter, as well as Cramer refused."

"Wonderbread sells for 15c up north", said I. "How can they sell it here for 10c when they wanted to raise the price, as you say?"

"Continental has a large investment in machinery and they must raise the price of bread to make a profit. Because Swanson and Winter started selling day old bread at their stores, Continental could not compete with them and make money. The same happened in Los Angeles; there, too, the price of bread has been cut to force competition out."

"How long do you think you can last?"—"I don't know", said Devany. "We cannot meet our expenses at the present price."

Bakewell Bakery Doing Well

Then I went to see E. L. Oats at the Bakewell Bakery, 4243 Park Blvd., and get his report. Oats did not cut the price. "My customers think that its funny to cut the price of bread when the cost of materials is going up. They don't approve of the bread war against San Diego independent bakers and they are patronizing me at the old price. My bread and pastry is the best that is offered anywhere and they like my quality."

Pro-British Fifth Columnists

WASHINGTON,—Rep. Woodruff (R-Mich) said he had received a letter indicating that "men who are high in the educational circles of Michigan" were part of a propaganda campaign to involve the United States "immediately and actively" in war.

"It is not necessary to name them in these comments," Woodruff said in a statement, "because it is obvious they are part of a nation-wide propaganda campaign."

He said the letter was part of a campaign by the William Allen White "Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies."

The letter urged repeal of the neutrality act and proposed that the United States immediately take over convoying of all ships to English ports.

Woodruff called attention also to a paragraph which said "It is my hope that you and other representatives from Michigan do everything in your power that England and the British commonwealth receive all material, planes and battleships that are needed to the end that this war may be kept going by England until we are ready to step in there and finish off the axis powers."

PRO-BRITISH WAR MONGERS

Radio Talk, KGB, Wednesday, 8:15 p. m., 11-28-40

On Nov. 22nd, the Associated Press carried the following dispatch:

"WASHINGTON,—Sen. Holt (D-WVa) challenged the Dies Committee to inquire into 'English propaganda in America', asserting that it should start 'by checking the record of the William Allen White committee'.—'The William Allen White committee, officially named the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, is a deliberately planned committee to involve this country in war,' Holt said in a statement.—'Every step to war has been taken now except the actual sending of American boys and they are waiting for public opinion to soften on that issue', he added.—'Congress is afraid to investigate this committee because it has official backing. It will not be investigated because it has behind it very high officials who can exert too much pressure on Congress".

America Ruled By British

At the same time the San Diego Union carried an editorial labelled "Aid to Britain" from which I now quote: "The new Congress which meets in January probably will be asked to repeal both the neutrality law and the Johnson act. The advocates of all possible assistance to Great Britain regard both statutes as barriers that prevent the United States from assuming the role of a non-belligerent ally of the British. Those who approve of the present statutes believe that repeal of either or both would be a long step down the road to war.—The neutrality act was designed to keep American ships and citizens out of war zones, and it has served exactly that purpose. To date there has been only one American shipping casualty, and that was off Australia. Repeal of the act would permit American ships, perhaps under convoy of American warships, to carry munitions and food to Great Britain or to any other port inside the circle of hostilities.—Those who advocate repeal insist that British shipping soon will be so depleted as to be insufficient to carry the flood of materials from this country. They maintain that our ships have a right to go anywhere in the world, and that if Germany does not observe our neutrality, the ships must be protected by the United States fleet."

So the idea is that our ships have a right to go anywhere in the world, and if Germany does not observe our neutrality, the ships must be protected by the United States fleet. How happy I am to hear this one hundred percent American doctrine of the rights of non-belligerent neutrals. I have advocated it from the beginning. I advocated it during the world war of 1914-18. I insisted then, as I insist now, that the rights of neutrals are superior to the rights of belligerents. I maintain that the right of a belligerent stops where the right of a neutral begins. I continue to uphold peace above war, simply because I am a Christian and have not gone crazy yet to imagine that wholesale slaughter of humanity will usher democracy or peace on earth with a higher civilization. On the contrary, murder,—brutal, premeditated murder—and starvation of millions of human beings lowers the moral, the physical, the spiritual and intellectual standard of the mass of humanity. Yes, I fully agree that American ships have a right to go anywhere in the world in the pursuit of peaceful commerce and no belligerent has a right to hold up our ships for search and seizure, or to rifle and steal our mail, or to insist that we get a navicert first from the British admiralty before our boats can leave American ports in legitimate pursuit of peaceful commerce.

Americans Forgot Christ

Do you realize how low we have sunk as Christians and human beings when it is being publicly debated and brought to us into our homes by radio waves from the mouth of Herbert Hoover in his pleas for human mercy to keep our own former allies and the allies of Great Britain even in this war from starving while there is too much food in the United States, while our farmers want to sell it, while Belgium, the Netherlands, France, Denmark and Norway want to pay for it, cash on the line, and the money is right here frozen by the United States treasury, available to pay for it,—and still debate is going on whether to feed the starving peoples or let them starve and become victims of disease. And what are we waiting for? We are waiting for Great Britain to give us permission.

Start the Day with Prayer

My mother and most likely your mother, too, taught me when I was a little shaver and barely able to toddle along, to wash myself in the morning and after being dressed, to get in the corner, where she kept a little oil lamp burning day and night in front of a small altar, and there in that corner, facing east, to kneel down and say my prayers, asking God for guidance for the day. I have followed that habit ever since. It has been my salvation. It has given me courage and has shown me the path in life to take, when the outlook seemed hopeless. What you and I need today is more of this humility that goes down on its knees before Almighty God and asks for guidance. And those prayers are always answered. Prayers are answered when you are not bossing the Lord, telling Him what you want Him to do for you, but on the contrary, reverse the attitude and ask Him what He wants you to do.

That will explain why I walk time and again right into danger, physical and otherwise, and come out with flying colors. I obey orders.

Now, if instead of debating about sending food to Europe, to people who already have the cash, frozen in U. S. banks, and are willing to buy it from us, and our farmers have the surplus which rots in their barns & in the warehouses of the nation,—instead of debating,—if our national leaders went down on their knees and asked God for instructions what to do, what do you think God would tell them, if they were sincere in their religious professions and their concern for the rights of human beings to live here on earth under the blessings of democracy. In the first place, what chance will the needy ever have to enjoy democracy while they are not permitted to buy and pay their own hard cash for the things they must have to survive. Does not democracy sustain liberty of commerce? And if America is to sustain democracy in the world, and if America is to arm itself to the teeth to protect itself against tyranny, should we not use our ships and our navy to maintain the human rights of people to eat and live when they are willing and able to trade with us?

The Parable of the Good Samaritan

The Savior encountered the same resistance to human duty as Herbert Hoover is encountering on behalf of the conquered peoples of Europe. The learned Rabbis of the synagogue posed this question before the Master: "It is written, thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself, but who is thy neighbor?"

The average American might exclaim, "what a silly question", saying, of course, every human being is our neighbor if he lives next to us. Now that is the democratic viewpoint. That is the viewpoint of the common American standard as well as the viewpoint of Jesus Christ, which He exemplified in the parable of the good Samaritan who gave aid to the poor traveler after he had been robbed and injured. But this viewpoint, was not shared by the learned Rabbis of the synagogue, for the Talmud teaches them that only a Jew is their neighbor. This religious discrimination between the rights of human beings to the simplest consideration, to primary consideration, when the priest passed by the wounded traveler and refused to aid him, and a Levite did likewise, this type of religious teaching Jesus Christ had to eliminate to bring out the milk of human kindness in his audience. And so he told the parable of the good Samaritan.

Hypocrisy of Oath of Office

If our religious leaders, if our public officials who always take an oath in the name of God before they assume office, if they would follow God, do you imagine for one moment that there would be any doubt or any question whether it is proper, right and humanitarian to ship our food surplusses to starving Europe, and mind you, they do not ask charity, they have the cash in our banks and want to pay for it. War, the merciless tyrant has wounded Europe. France is bleeding because it followed the advice of England and of our own diplomats, and declared war on Germany and now France as well as Belgium and the other small nations are prostrate, wounded by the roadside of War and the priests and the Levites of the world are passing them by, even forbidding us to aid our suffering fellow Christians who want to buy food from us with good cash. Whom are we to follow? Shall we follow the path so plainly outlined by Jesus Christ or shall we bow to the demands of the war-mongers to let their victims starve so that the war makers may inflict more misery upon human kind, till the war is won for "democracy and the Christian way of life", if you please.

Conscription Prevents Marriage, Subsiitutes Prostitution & Syphilis

SAN FRANCISCO,—Protesting against the existence of prostitution houses and saloons near army camps and naval bases, the northern area of the California Church council here announced a "crusade to defend our defenders".

Rev. Norman W. Pendleton, legislative representative of the area council and district superintendent of the California Temperance federation, said the council acted on the basis of advices from private citizens living near Camp Ord in Monterey county.

In a resolution adopted here the group of clergymen condemned the sale of liquor to service men and attacked "the toleration or encouragement of prostitution near any military camp or naval base."

The council said it had been told that vaudeville shows staged at Camp Ord "catered to the basest instincts and desires of the boys," and quoted an unidentified business man as saying after attending a show at Camp Ord: "As sophisticated as I felt that I was, it was the filthiest piece of business I have ever experienced."

The council said it had been "deeply stirred by first hand reports of the destructive conditions now developing in and around northern California military posts."

"We call earnestly upon all ministers of the gospel, churches, parent-teacher groups, women's clubs, and welfare organizations to join our crusade to "defend our defenders", the council's resolution stated.

"We also call for action on the grounds that toleration of prostitution under any method of control is invariably detrimental to public health."

DRAFT ACT WASTE OF U. S. MEN, RAP; URGES AIR POWER

DENVER,—The conscription act was put under fire by United States Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) as "one of the most wasteful, extravagant measures congress ever enacted." Johnson said conscriptees would be made only into foot soldiers, adding little or nothing to the nation's defensive strength. Asserting that the country is more in need of arms than men, he said:

"You cannot stop a 20-ton tank moving 60 miles an hour with a bayonet, nor bring down a bomber five miles in the air with a Springfield rifle."

He contended that 100,000 pilots and 200,000 plane mechanics could be trained by the government at no more cost than one year of conscription.

A "Poem" Lovely As a Tree

For the fifth consecutive year San Diego will have its "Christmas Tree Lane" through Balboa Park. Assisting with the colorful tree lighting is Miss Norma-Lee Taunt, queen of electric Giftland and featured singer of the Eighth Annual Electric Show which opens December 3rd. Christmas Tree Lane has been installed and maintained each year through the joint cooperation of the Bureau of Radio and Electric Appliances and the San Diego Gas and Electric company.

Eighth Annual Christmas Show

With the lighting of Christmas Tree Lane in which thousands of lights will transform Laurel Avenue in Balboa Park into a Christmas Fairyland, the Eighth Annual Christmas Show will open its doors free to the public 6:00 P. M., December 3rd in the Palace of Better Housing, under the sponsorship of the Bureau of Radio and Electrical Appliances and the San Diego Gas & Electric Company.

Dramatizing the magic of electricity the spectacle which last year attracted over 110,000 visitors has gathered all the latest modern electrical contributions to modern living and the newest innovations which are appearing or will soon appear on the market, for display and demonstration.

Spectacular performer in the Show is Frederick Van Pelt, former circus man who is now associated with one of the Neon manufacturers. He turns electricity into his body in sufficient voltage to cause it to flash from his finger tips. He lights neon tubes and other equipment from his own body. He will demonstrate many interesting features of "black light", and Fluorescent. Also, in this display will be seen the new "Vareon", a development that permits amazing flexibility in traveling, or action lettering.

Dish-Pan Derby

Outstanding feature of the Show will be the "Dish-Pan" Derby. For the first time in history, San Diegan's will have the opportunity of witnessing a race between a modern automatic dishwasher and the old fashioned hand method. Using an equal number of dishes under typical home conditions, the operators of these two opposed types of equipment stage a battle in which not only time, but efficiency will count.

Shown for the first time will be the new germicidal lamps that until only a short time ago were used for scientific demonstration. Now, in this Show, new commercial applications will be seen that destroy germs in the family wash, tenderize meat and keep perishables from spoiling. Also on hand will be the spectacular advances made with lighting since the last show, particularly in the many new applications now being made of Fluorescent lighting.

Miniature Electric Railroad

The romance of railroading will be vividly portrayed in an exhibit and operated in accurate scale by the men of the San Diego model Railroad Club. Complete with stations, switchboards, automatic switches, semaphores, model towns and buildings, all completely operated with electricity, the tiny trains and streamliners will run on regular timed schedules, through the real maneuvers of actual railroading.

This marks the first public showing of the tiny H-O gauge system ever attempted here.

On hand will be San Diego State College with an exhibit demonstrating scientific equipment having direct conection with electricity. In addition to numerous action demonstrations, a series of new motion pictures on various phases of electricity discovery and progress will be shown.

Supplementing the several noncommercial exhibits and demonstrations already referred to, are many of unusual interest in connection with electrical appliances and household equipment. This Show is being used to formally introduce a number of absolutely new developments in this field. Included in this category is an automatic washer to be unveiled here; an electric range that combines a kitchen heater for winter and an air circulator for summer; radios with Frequency Modulation; Polaroid and Fluorescent table and floor lamps; recording radio-phonographs of advanced design; new automatic coffeemakers and toaster and many advancements in the field of electrically operated tools for the workshop.

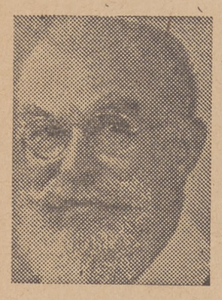
Much radio and stage entertainment as usual will nightly perform for the Show visitors. Show hours will be 6 to 10:30 P. M. each night from December 3rd through December 8th. On December 7th and 8th the show will open at noon. Admission is of course, free.

HEALTH-GERMS

By George Starr White, M. D.

Mr. de Aryan, San Diego BROOM.

The enclosed "clinical Excerpts" will give U an idea of how the Medical Gang cover up and deceive the trusting public.



Dr. Geo. Starr White

Great harm has come from the insane reckless manner of prescribing Sulfanilamide. The various names for the same killer and blinder run up to 17 I was told today by a drug firm! All best wishes,

Youthfully yours,

GEO. STARR WHITE.

Sulfathiazole Therapy of Pneumococcus Pneumonia, Staphylococcus Infections, and Non-specific Urinary Infections.

Within the last year there has been under experimental and clinical study a thiazole analogue of sulfaphyridine—sulfathiazole—which has shown a definite chemotherapeutic effect when used in the treatment of pneumococcus and staphylococcus infections. A review of the early literature on experimental findings by Long constituted the preliminary report of the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry on thiazole derivatives.

Publications on the extensive clinical experience with sulfathiazole in pneumonia and staphylococcus infections, as well as in some other infections commonly encountered in medical practice, are now beginning to accumulate. Such papers form the basis of the following discussion, which deals not only with the therapeutic virtues of sulfathiazole, but also with the side effects that the attentive physician may observe occasionally.

Pneumococcus Pneumonia

The clinical effectiveness of sulfathiazole in pneumonia has been studied in numerous medical institutions. Flippin, Schwartz and Rose reported their observations on 100 patients treated with sulfathiazole, and a like number treated with sulfapyridine. . . . .

In certain instances when a rapid elevation of the blood level of the drug was desired, a 5 per cent solution of sulfathiazole sodium (0.06 Gm. per kilogram of body weight) was administered intravenously to supplement oral therapy. One intravenous dose was usually sufficient to raise the blood level to 8 ot 10 mg. per cent. When either drug apparently failed to bring about the expected clinical response within thirty-six to forty-eight hours, the patient was usually given specific serum in addition. The combined use of serum and drug is justified in selected cases, until sufficient data are presented to prove definitely that it is less effective than chemotherapy alone. The administration of serum appeared to be a deciding factor in the recovery of several patients.

Of the patients treated with sulfathiazole, 12 died; in the sulfapyridine group there were 15 deaths. Four of 13 patients with bacteremia treated with sulfathiazole died; there were 6 deaths in 11 bacteremic cases.

"The object of this Association is to promote by precept and example, a just consideration of the rights of all races, human and subhuman and to teach that foremost among the unnecessary evils of the world and one which underlies most of the other evils, is the mutilation and slaughter of our fellow creatures for food, furs, so-called medical research and other selfish ends and to set forth the physical and moral reasons why this is so."—President (Mrs.) M. To the Editor "The Broom".

I have just seen your article on "Ingersoll vs. Churchill" as reprinted in the "Vegetarian Magazine", and wish to congratulate you on its Sanity and helpful patriotism. If your paper sweeps as clean in all its columns as in this, you may be able to maintain the "balance" in a few readers, in spite of the pressure and propaganda for War which is sweeping us into the abyss. Not that a thinking FEW can do much, against the multitude, of whom Robert Louis Stevenson said, "Most people go through the world, like smiling images pushed from behind",—nevertheless it is worth while to try to strengthen the Morale of the few, and help them to respect their own integrity.

I am wondering, as the connection might suggest, tho' not necessarily, if there is meant to be any suggestion that Henry George was a vegetarian? If so, I think the fact could hardly have escaped me, altho' biographers of the many GREAT who made this the foundation of their moral outlook,—such as Leonardo, Tolstoi, Plutarch, and even the still living Shaw, etc, etc, etc, are strangely unanimous in omitting any mention of this, considered by them probably, as a sort of "weakness", best not remembered by posterity. I have ordered several copies of the article I refer to, though those who are mentally "aware" do not need it, and others will not read it!

Sincerely,
MRS. CURTIS FRESHEL,
38 Central Park South, New York City, N. Y.

Editor's Note:—Henry George was no vegetarian. We shall reproduce "Ingersoll vs. Churchill" in our next issue to supply the demand.

Anti-Communist Propaganda Stirs Pasadena College

PASADENA,— On Nov. 20, the following appeared in the PASADENA INDEPENDENT:

ANTI-SEMITIC PAMPHLET SOWS RACE HATRED AMONG STUDENTS

A sweeping investigation of the distribution of an anti-Semitic pamphlet among Pasadena Junior College students was begun by school authorities recently.

Although officials disclaimed any knowledge that the pamphlet had been placed in the hands of students, it was reported that many of the young people had been given copies of it. Its evident purpose is to arouse racial hatred.

No information as to who was responsible for distributing the pamphlet—titled "The Jew Menace"— was available at a late hour, several hours after the investigation was put into motion.

Outrages Americanism

"This sort of thing is an outrage against the principles of true Americanism," Dr. John A. Sexson, city schools superintendent, declared. "We shall do all in our power to track down the perpetrators and see that they get their just desserts."

Sexson's statements were echoed by Dr. John W. Harbeson, principal at the college, who promised to "get to the bottom of this matter tomorrow morning".

Meantime Charles Allen, editor of the campus newspaper, The Chronicle, announced that student body officers were preparing to conduct a supplemental investigation.

Violates School Code

Under the state schools code, Sexson said, a teacher found distributing a pamphlet of thic nature automatically is dismissed. The code expressly prohibits dissemination of printed or verbal statements in the schools that incite racial controversy.

Laymen found distributing such statements are liable to fines or imprisonment under the state penal code.

Vicious Propaganda

Urging readers to "Organize! Vote Gentile! Buy Gentile! Think Gentile!" the 16-page pamphlet is devoted to such subjects as "Jews in Our Government," "Thirteen Million Jews in the U. S. A.", "Business, Newspapers and Magazines Controlled by Jews", "Jews in Communist Russia", "More Than 10 Million Gentile Russians Murdered by the Jewish Government of Russia", "Roosevelt Recognized Russia", "Germany and Austria Controlled by Jews before Munich", "Jews Originators of Racial Discrimination", "Race Above Country", "Jews Are the Most Perfect Organized Racial Block", "Quotations From the Talmud", "Communism Supportd by Jews", "Jewish Specialties—Gambling, Bookies, Racketeering and White Slavery", "The Motion Picture Industry in America Is More Than 95 Per Cent Jewish", "Jewish," "Jewish Influence in Washington", "Israelite Philosophy", "Radio Stations in Hands of Jews", "France and England Are Also Menaced by Jews", "Seven Hundred Communist Organizations in the U. S. A." and "Stop This Menace".

Incites Persecution

The last page of the pamphlet contains the following incendiary statements in bold face type:

"Persons who sympathize with the objective herein outlined are earnestly urged to help stop the onward march of the Jewish juggernaut by reprinting and distributing this brochure, for which permission is not required, and to employ other lawful means to release the stranglehold Jews have on the throat of America.

"The sputterings, denials, denunciations and hysterical shrieks of apologists for Jews cannot change or disprove facts.

"Don't be a slacker! Do a little work, organize neighborhood groups and, in the interests of real Americanism, spend a few dollars and get reproductions of this article into the hands of all classes of people."

SOLD!

There used to appear in the catalog of a mail order house a picture of a pair of corduroy trousers.

Year after year the picture appeared, together with the description of the trousers—and the price, 10 shillings.

In the 25th year of the advertisement the company received this letter:

"Dear Friend: The more I been seeing them corduroy trousers, the more I got to wantin' them. If you ain't sold them yet, let me know, and I will buy them.—Yours truly, Si Higginbotham."—Humorist, England.

Goodbye to the American Flag?

portunity to question me. I took the logical view that if I 'named names' of such a tribe she would take it for granted that I must be of the same stripe myself. I guessed right. 'Twas, however, no compliment to my own pride that my personal appearance was such—in her estimation—that she had accepted me as 'one of them'.

The lady handed me a dozen petitions and asked me to have them signed by my friends and return them as quickly as possible as they were sending on signed petitions so that Mr. Streit could present them to Congress in Washington—showing that the people of the United States were in favor of joining the Commonwealth of British Nations! She pointed out to me what lingo to adopt in obtaining signatures: dupes and innocents were to be "shown" that the United States would have 27 votes in this Parliament, and all the other British "democracies" would have their proportion, but by some twist of figures which would have driven Euclid to madness—the United States would have the control of herself and all the other British democracies through this huge vote of 27 delegates or representatives. The 27 shining brilliancies of treason were to be selected—by the governing body, of course; or, it was to be through 'some kind of an election', perhaps. However, that was not so important since the remainder of the 130,000,000 Americans were to be in the trap, anyway. Then, in perusing the petition I noted that old mother India, with her teeming millions had been left out—and had no vote at all. If this voting galaxy was based truly on some sort of population basis, and the American Republic which was to abandon its sovereignity was to have 27 representatives to this British Commonwealth of Nations super-Government, then how could India, one of the British dependencies, have been left out? I was asking a question! The volunteer had the answer, but it was not for the vulgar. Since I was under suspicion of being one of the initiates the lady opened the trottle. She informed me that the people of India were not fit for representation—too ignorant, etc! But, she essayed, after this great commonwealth of UNION NOW was formed and in operation—India would be represented by British officials! Swamped! I figured quickly the proportion India would have of British masters as her "representatives" in this Parliament of the super-Government, as the woman called it, and it came to the bright sum of 56 votes. Swamped!

I was told not to mention this to people whom I would ask to sign the petition—and I got out quickly, but with an almost uncontrollable urge to stand and salute the picture of General Washington, raise my hand and openly swear allegiance to him, our flag, and our nation.

I had asked if the unit of the United States would be permitted still to retain our flag. Yes, what a question! Could we retain our flag! The woman hesitated. She was not certain! She never had had that question arise before, but she opined that we might be able to keep the flag on the precedent that all the "states" had been allowed to retain their respective flags when entering the Union—but she had doubts, and would write to New York at once and ask Mr. Clarence Streit whether the United States would be allowed to keep its flag after it entered the British Commonwealth of Nations!

Would I give her my name and address and she would write and let me know. Let an American citizen know whether her dear land could retain its flag after it had been slithered into this super-Government!

Yes, I gave her that name and address. It conveyed nothing to her. She probably was too young and too inexperienced to have known anything about me or my fight of over thirty years to obviate just this danger, and this treason movement. Mr. Streit would have been more awake, thus far no communication has been received by me as to whether the nation fought for by Washington shall be permitted to possess and hoist that emblem of our nationality should we be enticed into the British Commonwealth of Nations by adventurers and traitors.

In asking for information about who would head the super-Government the lady looked at me in surprise. Why, the King, of course! Oh, yes, the British flag would be the flag of the super-Government, but she was uncertain whether the United States' flag would be permitted at all. She would have to ask Mr. Streit.

Will Martin Dies Investigate ?

Citizens, ask your Senator and your Congressman to ask the President if he will, as the sworn protector of the nation, request Hon. Martin L. Dies to cease hopping after minnows— and go full steam ahead and investigate Mr. Streit and his British super-Government agents whose object is the destruction of the sovereignty of the Republic of the United States, and the sliding of this country into a monarchial "democracy"—as a vassal state!

LANDLORD'S PARADISE

I'm a Landlord, bold and free,
Living off my Equity.
Properties I rent to you
So that you may pay when due.

Houses here and houses there
Stores upon the Avenue
All produce the highest Rent
For my Bank Book barbecue.

Every month I count my gains
If it shines, or if it rains
Rents are such innocent things
People overlook their stings.

Richer year by year I grow
Life is wonderful, you know
Toiling not, nor do I spin
Like a Lily, without sin.

Now that the War Boom is on
I shall raise my rents anon
Might as well get all I can
From the unsuspecting Man.

And what Landlords of East San Diego Business Properties recently raised the rents of said properties, pleading increased costs as justification? What costs?—The Belfry.

GUNS PAY BETTER

Nebraska is losing a large number of skilled workers, who are leaving the state to take employment at higher wages in defense industries in other parts of the country. One Nebraska manufacturer several weeks ago expressed the fear that he would lose all his best machinists in this way.

The competition of war industries for men and materials is something other industries cannot meet. Private industries, producing goods to sell to the public, no matter how profitable their operations may be, do have to make ends meet or fold up and quit.

But the government and industries that get government contracts in the defense program are not operating in a field where they have to watch the corners. They have the United States Treasury back of them, with its taxing power and borrowing power. There is no natural check on what they can pay for labor or materials.

This makes it tough on industries that are still producing the things needed to feed and clothe and shelter the people in their daily lives.

—Nebraska Union Farmer.

HENRY A. WALLACE IN MEXICO

It is most significant, as well as appropriate, that Vice-President Elect Wallace was sent by FDR to Mexico City to help inagurate Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho into the Mexican presidency. Both elections on this northern part of the continent were phony elections, dictated by the same subversive international elements.

President Lazaro Cardenas had received international encouragement to confiscate foreign oil holdings as the starter for such a policy among Latin Americans. Following the example of FDR, who drafted Wallace for his running mate and elected himself with the aid of corrupt political machines and a federal slush fund of billions in patronage and aid to all who wanted to vote right, Cardenas had his own henchmen elected in the most irregular fashion of balloting and counting of votes. To insure cooperation between these two usurper factions on the continent to carry out the subversive polices of the international group and keep the world in turmoil, Wallace has been dispatched to Mexico City. And the followers of Gen. Juan Andreau Almazan, who had been "counted out" at the election, told Wallace in no unmistakable fashion how much they love the Gringo who imposes an unwanted president upon them.

DRAFT SENTENCE DELAYED FOR MINISTER, EDUCATOR

PORTLAND, Ore.,—Federal Judge James A. Fee delayed sentencing a minister and a college professor who admitted violation of the selective service act by refusing to register. Rev. Paul Roland Ackermann, 31-year-old father of four children, and Edwin A. Sanders, 25, English professor at Pacific college, Newberg, Ore., were continued under bonds of $500 each. Both Sanders and Rev. Ackermann said they refused to register because of conscientious objections.
